

LIFE OF A PIMPLE

Complexions Are Cleared and Pimples Disappear Overnight Without Trouble.

The dispensers of posam, a new skin discovery, ask that notice be given that no one is urged to purchase it without first obtaining an experimental package. Those who have tried it will find that the fifty-cent box, on sale at Jenie Hamilton's Pharmacy and all drug stores, is sufficient to cure the worst cases of eczema, where the surface affected is not too large. The itching ceases on first application. It will also cure acne, tetter, blotches, scaly scalp, hives, barbers' and every other form of itch, including itching feet. Being flesh-colored and containing no grease, the presence of posam on exposed surfaces, such as the face and hands, is not perceptible. Water and soap cannot be used in connection with it, as these irritate and prolong skin troubles, sometimes even causing them.

As to the experimental package of posam, it can be had free of charge by mail of the Emergency Laboratories, 22 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York. It alone is sufficient to clear the complexion overnight, and to rid the face of pimples in twenty-four hours.

ROUSING ROOSEVELT RECEPTION

Ex-President Given Unofficial but Heartily Greeting at Gibraltar.

Spends Two Hours at Famous Fortress Sight Seeing.

Will Reach Naples Sunday—Not to Visit Messina—Incident's of the Voyage—To be Guest of Duchess of Aosta.

(Special from United Press.)

Gibraltar, April 2.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt arrived at Gibraltar shortly before 10 A. M. to-day and for nearly two hours was the center of an enthusiastic demonstration in which England took advantage of her first opportunity to pay her respects to the distinguished traveler. At Mr. Roosevelt's request the reception was robbed of an official character, which, however, added to rather than detracted from the heartiness of the greetings. Sir Frederick Forester-Walker, governor of Gibraltar, and Richard Sprague, the American Consul, took Mr. Roosevelt, his son Kermit, and other members of the party in charge as soon as the Roosevelt family arrived. The crowd that awaited Mr. Roosevelt's coming was evidently a surprise to him and he waved his black slouch hat like a school-boy. As the Hamburg's stay at Gibraltar was limited to two hours the reception committee immediately took the party in automobiles a sight-seeing which included the governor's residence and the Admiralty building, naval hospital and the barracks. The northern part of Gibraltar was decorated in Mr. Roosevelt's honor. No formal speeches were made.

Mr. Roosevelt was most deeply interested in the fort which is counted the most impregnable in the world. He was cheered by the soldiers and became so enthusiastic that he seemed about to cheer in response.

After a stay of two hours the Hamburg cleared for its run to Naples. Mr. Roosevelt waved his farewell from the deck while the crowds on the pier and the shore cheered repeatedly. "Wasn't it just splendid?" Mr. Roosevelt said as he finally made his way to his suite.

The run to Gibraltar from the Azores was a beautiful weather and all the members of the Roosevelt party looked "fit as fiddies" on landing here. The Hamburg's stop at Horta, island of Faial, and Ponta Del Gada, island of San Miguel furnished Mr. Roosevelt the keenest enjoyment. One little incident at the latter place, however, was a disappointment. On stepping from the boat to the companionway Mr. Roosevelt stumbled and would have fallen into the water but for the fact that the quartermaster grabbed him. His escape was so close that Mr. Roosevelt thanked the officer heartily.

At Ponta Del Gada he enjoyed a fowl hunt, though every member maintained a discreet silence when questioned as to the size of the "bag." Mr. Roosevelt stood in the companionway until the last one of his party had come aboard. Wednesday was a day of sport about the Hamburg with cock-fighting, bolter fighting and numerous kinds of racing held on the spar deck. Mr. Roosevelt himself umpired the races but he refused to officiate at the cock-fights. He was refereed in fact too, as well as in name and entered into the sports with such zeal that those who crowded the decks frequently applauded him for his strenuous participation. Kermit Roosevelt won two events in the races and received his prizes from his father's hands.

Thursday morning Mr. Roosevelt made a round of inspection of the ship accompanied by the captain. Thursday night the "Majors' dinner" was given and passengers took advantage of the occasion to present Mr. Roosevelt with an address in which they set forth their pleasure at having had the honor of his distinguished presence. The address wished him good luck on his homeward trip.

Rome, Italy, April 2.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will not visit ruined Messina after all despite the fact that King Victor had placed the big battleship Umberto at his disposal. Time will not permit. This was finally decided upon following a conference between the Italian officers and the steamship companies that have charge of the distinguished visitor. The Italian officers, which Colonel Roosevelt will continue his voyage to Mombasa reported that she could not make a special stop at Messina while Ambassador Griscom and the local authorities expected that big game hunting will be the chief topic discussed.

Just what hotel the Roosevelt party will on arrival in Rome is not yet known. The authorities so that there will be no opportunity for anarchists to attempt the life of the visitor. Ambassador Griscom holds to the belief that the King will not be present at Naples. Asked for a statement to-day he said, "I am in the dark as to King's plans but inasmuch as I have not been informed that he will be in Naples I must believe that he will not be there."

The road is 443 miles long and cost $40,000,000. PLEAS FOR NEWSGIRLS.

Bills Restricting Their Work Are Opposed.

Hartford, April 2.—The education committee spent yesterday afternoon on several bills concerning the employment of school children.

John P. Gunshannon was in favor of the new law, and opposed to legislation restricting her rights. Miss Mary Hall of the Good Will Club said that she had devoted a great deal of time to this matter. She remembered the first newspaper article on the streets of Hartford, who was her friend, and this girl has grown up to be a fine woman. She never knew of a newspaper going astray in the moral sense of the word.

Ex-Congressman Lewis Sperry said that it is far better for the girls to be on the street with a chance to earn a little something, and they were far better off than when playing in some of the back yards. If parents want to keep their girls from playing in the back yards, he said, they should be done by the individual cities as conditions differ in different places. Lawyer Joseph L. Barbour said that there was no law prohibiting boys and girls being on the street, but this proposed measure was to prohibit them from being busy on the street. He spoke of the injustice of licensing the boys and making their parents liable to a fine for violations of the law.

PAPER ON HATCHING AND RAISING CHICKENS

At a well attended meeting of the Bridgeport Poultry Pigeon and Bee Stock Association held last evening in room 410 of the Court Exchange building, the members were well entertained by a paper on "Hatching and Raising Chickens" by William O. Burr of Fairfield. During the meeting M. E. Browder, secretary of the Manufacturers' Association, was presented with a handsome fountain pen as a token of appreciation of his courtship and kindness to the members of the association. The committee in charge of the next annual exhibition was increased by the addition of Geo. W. Hills, Harry Smith of Milford, and W. E. Hulise of Fairfield.

THE PORTER ON THE PULLMAN CAR

Knows You By the Clothes You Wear and Treats You Accordingly.

"SHODDY" APPAREL GETS YOU THE "TURN DOWN"

Be Right About Clothes—Be Sure They Creditably Represent You.

Even the porter on the Pullman car knows a man by the clothes he wears and treats him accordingly. When he takes your coat to hang on the peg above your chair you will invariably see him take a peek at its lining, its label and its general finish. He knows what clothes are, for he has handled them all, and he has handled them from the magnum down. He "sizes up" a man by this and other methods and he seldom appears in the opinion of his passenger's station in life. He is condescended by all to be the cleverest of human nature judges. If your clothes and general appearance and demeanor vie with his ideas of gentleness and you are given the best of attention and this goes all through life—appearance gets the call and not necessarily from the Pullman porter alone, either. Clothes—good clothes—get one an audience with influential people. Cheap clothes immediately stamp a man as questionable and get him what is commonly known as a "turn down."

It is time to get that "turn down" mean expensive clothing, but custom tailoring—we mean exactly, clothes made to order, to one's measure, so they will properly and creditably represent the man that's wearing them. What we wish to impress is to have you steer clear of the ready-made kind that are manufactured by the carload, instead of being built for any particular human being. The clothes that "make" at 145 Main street, will add "class" to your appearance and will be the cause of admitting you to company and persons you couldn't possibly hope to receive consideration from in a shoddy suit. And you will not have to pay enough difference in price to cause you wretched nights either. It is time to get that "turn down" suit and you must order it quickly if you don't want to be disappointed. See Wheals at once and you'll never regret it as long as you live.

A Real John Doe.

"There goes a man who would be justified in changing his name," said the city salesman. "His name is really Doe, and John in the bargain—John Doe. Moreover, he has a sister Jane. I wonder what kind of joke their parents were trying to perpetrate on those helpless mortals. Doe as a surname was bad enough without adding to the offense by tacking on John and Jane. When I first met John Doe I didn't take his name seriously. I thought the man who introduced us was enjoying a little pleasantry at my expense or maybe at the expense of John Doe. I smiled. John Doe did not smile."

"You don't believe it," he said, "but unfortunately it is true. I am the famous Doe."

"Later I met his sister Jane and the rest of that particular Doe family. They assured me that there are a number of Does in town. I presume there are, but I trust that in most cases the old folks had sense enough not to christen their offspring John and Jane."—New York Press.

The Moor and His Horse.

The horsemanship of the Moors is primitive and entirely successful. A Moor never walks when he can ride and never by any chance gets off to ease his beast. How a Moorish pony would have chuckled at the weary walks enforced on tired men by well meaning cavalry colonels in South Africa! He would have said to himself: "I don't think much of animals that can't carry fifteen stone fifteen hours a day. I must be a really superior kind of beast!" The Moorish (as Goumier) horse always spends his nights in the open. He is never groomed or clipped. His youth is passed wandering untended over the vast fields. When in work he gets all the barley he wants at night and a drink before his feed in the evening. From 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. he expects to work and to work hard without bite or sup. His saddle is a wooden tree superimposed on at least half a dozen folded blankets, the thickness of which often reaches six inches, and he never gets a sore back.

—London Spectator.

A Slander.

Every time a girl wants to find anything in her top bureau drawer she gets a stick and stirs everything in the drawer round and round. If what she is looking for doesn't come to the surface, then she is satisfied it isn't there.

—Aitchison Globe.

Intuition.

"What became of that rich uncle of yours?"

"I think he's dead, but I don't know."

"Geel! How did he lose all his money?"—Cleveland Leader.

The Example.

Professor (lecturing on hygiene)—To bacco, gentlemen, makes men ugly, short winded, idiotic, paralytic, and I can tell you this from many years' experience, for I have smoked for many years!"

Why, Indeed?

Mrs. Meeker—Wake up, John! I hear a noise downstairs. I'm sure there are burglars in the house. Meeker—Nonsense, my dear! Why should burglars want to make a noise?

A Good Excuse.

Little Willie—I don't need to take a bath tonight, mamma. Mamma—Why not? Little Willie—I was out in the rain today and got all wet.—New York Journal.

I speak the truth, not so much as I would, but as much as I dare, and I dare a little the more as I grow older.

—Montaigne.
